

Chorus Environmental Policy

We recognize the importance of safeguarding the environment, and the responsibility and opportunity we have to make a positive contribution toward a sustainable future.

Our core values of listening, collaborating and improving drive us to continually find and implement environmentally-friendly ways to conduct business and to help our customers and suppliers conduct theirs.

In addition to complying with applicable environmental laws, Chorus Aviation Inc. and its subsidiaries (the Chorus Group) will endeavour to:

- Track and disclose our greenhouse gas emissions and collaborate with others to find opportunities to advance the decarbonization of the aviation industry;
- Reduce waste by taking a life-cycle approach to waste management, including by emphasizing waste minimization and reuse of serviceable materials;
- Encourage environmental responsibility among Chorus Group employees through communication, education and involvement in corporate sustainability initiatives;
- Incorporate environmental considerations when sourcing goods and services for Chorus Group operations;
- Engage the Chorus Group supply chain to understand environmental impact of our decisions and seek ways to improve the environmental performance of our suppliers;
- Set goals, monitor progress and review environmental performance regularly to promote a culture of continuous improvement; and
- Communicate transparently about how the Chorus Group manages our sustainability impacts.

Implementing this policy is an important corporate objective and a responsibility of all Chorus Group employees.
